Investment risks

For complete information on risks, refer to the legal documents. The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. Changes in interest rates will result in fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund uses derivatives (complex instruments) for investment purposes, which may result in the fund being significantly leveraged and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may invest in distressed securities which carry a significant risk of capital loss. As a large portion of the fund is invested in less developed countries, you should be prepared to accept significantly large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund may invest in contingent convertible bonds which may result in significant risk of capital loss based on certain trigger events. The fund may invest in certain securities listed in China which can involve significant regulatory constraints that may affect the liquidity and/or the investment performance of the fund.

Fund Strategy

The fund aims to achieve stable long-term return by investing mainly in Investment Grade bonds in Asia. The fund manager believes Asian fixed income will benefit from robust Asia growth story and offer attractive valuation versus global peers. The fund will invest up to 20% in China onshore bonds to gain exposure in the second largest fixed income market in the world. The fund manager believes China onshore bonds offer good diversification and attractive yield, providing a good supplement to Asian USD bonds. The fund manager deploys both top-down and bottom up approach for portfolio construction.
